

CTSP Website Promo

Hi, I'm Rick Peterson, Director of the Career and Technical Special Populations Training and Education Resource Center at Texas A&M AgriLife Extension. The CTSP Center is your online aid for working with special populations. It has been our privilege to provide you, the CTE teacher, with access to a variety of online resources for seven years. Now, we are excited to introduce you to our new and improved, mobile-friendly website. If you are a new user to our site, simply click on the three categories: "What We Do", "What We Offer", and "What You Gain" for an overview of our program. If you are a returning user, you will still find your old favorites such as instructional videos, webcasts, newsletters, searchable library database, helpful links, frequently asked questions, and live chat opportunities. We have added a brief weekly blog that can aid you in your work and direct you to various CTSP resources. If you subscribe to our blog, it will be delivered directly to your email. We are more active than ever on Facebook and Twitter. Follow us or like us and you will get access to daily breaking news related to education and special populations. If you have a question for us related to technical support or working with special populations, simply visit our help desk and submit a support ticket. As a reminder, our site's URL is ctsp.tamu.edu, visit us and let us aid you in your work with special populations.